TEMPE COTTON GROWERS CHOOSE SITE FOR GIN

Meeting of Saturday Night Attracted Many Interested Growers

With the new site chosen for a ginning plant and exchange offices, Tempe's newly-formed Cotton Growers' Exchange is beginning to take on an aspect of real business. Practically all the probable growers of the district have signed up under the exchange by now, so that the association is in a position to go ahead with its work of purchasing the gin, installing it, and attending to the hundred and one other odds and ends that will require attention to make the industry a success.

After deliberating for some time over a number of sites in view, the exchange directors have settled upon that located on the northeast limits of the town, just east of the so-called little butte and north of the Arizona-Eastern Winkelman tracks.

The exchange property will retain a position formerly occupied by the old Santa Fe stock yards.

The gin and exchange offices will be located together. At one time the cotton growers hoped to have a downtown office in conjunction with the proposed Board of Trade rooms, but recently that idea has been abandoned, leaving but the one alternative to choose.

A vast amount of business was taken care of at the special meeting of the cotton men on Saturday night, chief of which was the signing up of growers. Between 3,500 and 4,000 acres are the latest estimates placed on the 1914 acreage seeded to cotton in the Tempe district.

OVERLAND TO TEMPE

Mr. and Mrs. Lineberger, parents of Mrs. B. E. Dickinson, of Tempe, arrived in the valley last week by auto from their home at Fullerton, Cal. Five days were spent on the road en route, camp being pitched where night overtook them. The Linebergers will spend a week or two in the valley before taking up the return trip. Today accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson they will make a trip to the Roosevelt dam and return.

DR. ALEXANDER IMPROVING

The condition of Dr. B. L. Alexander, who has been confined to the Sisters' Hospital at Phoenix for the past 10 days suffering from a case of blood poisoning, is very promising now and gives all indications of an early recovery.

MINSTRELS HERE TONIGHT

The lovers of good old-time melodies will be certainly well entertained tonight at the Goodwin Opera House with the delightful tunes of the old Southern ballads of the times "before war." Calligan & Hockwold's minstrels has always been a company especially selected by the management for their singing qualities. It has long been conceded that no one can get the harmony and music of those songs like the real darkey.

There is also added to the entertainment plenty of good, clean comedy, and some of the latest and most popular ballads of the present time. The show is especially for ladies and children. There is nothing so entertaining as a good singing show, and the management of the colored minstrels certainly had that feature in mind when it selected the present company. From the time the curtain goes up there is always something going, either in singing their Southern ballads, for which the negro is noted, or some of the latest songs of the day with the entire company singing the chorus.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY

The funeral services over the remains of Glenn Operative, were conducted yesterday afternoon from the residence of his parents at 3:30 o'clock with interment in the Mesa cemetery.
The accounts of the tragedy are at variance. However, it seems that the lad's father had warned him against fishing in the deep pool immediately east of the dam and that the boy had taken a gun and had shot a fish and had later walked in to secure it, when he stepped in a hole and was unable to swim out. The water at this point as it flows through the tunnel, is very swift and the lad, no matter how good a swimmer he might have been, could not have withstood the terrible whirling waters. Immediately after the discovery that the boy had gone down the water was turned out of the tunnel and when once the pool became quiet, his body could be seen lying on the bottom of the stream. The body was brought to this place and placed in charge of Undertaker Burton of burial.

SCHOOL ELECTION

On Saturday, March 28, an election will be held at Chandler to decide upon the issuance of $12,000 of school bonds, the proceeds to be used in the erection of another school house and to install heating and toilet facilities in the buildings already in use; also to improve and beautify the school grounds.

At the same time an election will be held for two school trustees to take the place of the expiring terms of Leonard George and E. N. Larmour. Both the gentlemen have made very efficient members of the board and much of the credit for the present efficiency of the Chandler schools is due him. The district will sincerely regret his decision not to run for re-election.

The only two candidates in the field so far are Mr. Larmour, than whom no better man could be selected for the position, and W. H. Robinson, who consented to run at the solicitation of the other members of the board. Mr. Robinson was a member of the Phoenix Grammar School board for six years and a member of the high school board for three. He has had a great deal of experience in school work and if elected will make an efficient member of the board.

The election calls for one trustee to serve three years, and the other two years. F. V. N. Dana is the remaining member of the board.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

The Farmers' Institute held a meeting at the Chandler school house on Saturday evening. The speakers of the evening were Professor A. M.
McComie of the State Experimental Station, and W. P. McConnell, editor of the Progressive Farmer and a graduate of the Minnesota Agricultural College.

Professor McComie spoke in a very interesting manner on "Soil Management," and Mr. McConnell told his audience the way to make a dairy herd bring its largest returns.
